Learn new cookery skills and have fun in virtual cookery team building or client networking event. Give your guests a grilling and turn up the heat to add a competitive element or opt for a more relaxed style cook a long!

Cooking is good for soul and mental well-being; it brings a high reward of self-satisfaction and a shared experience for your team or clients to enjoy. We have been designed the classes to suit all abilities and require only basic cooking equipment. On the day guests will simply log in and are welcomed by a Michelin star chef who will start with an ice breaker to warm up the group and seek out any hiding pets.

A quick health and safety briefing then follows and this quickly leads to a series of inspiring cookery demonstration and guests get cooking! Our chefs will also share lots of tips and tricks of the trade and encourage engagement from the guests. Guests will cook up a storm in the comfort of their own home!
